

WILSON'S NOTE
IS READY TO BE PUT IN CIPHER
ZEPPELINS AGAIN
RAID EAST COAST
OF GREAT BRITAIN

Washington, June 7.—President Wilson's second note to the German government on the Lusitania case was ready to be put into cipher for cabling to Ambassador Gerard in Berlin and may go forward tonight.

The note was not sent on Saturday as was planned because of the desire of President Wilson to go over its phraseology with minute care so as to make the document explicit and subject to no misconstruction.

The text of the president's note still is known only to its author and his cabinet members but enough has been learned from authoritative sources to assert that the second Wilson note is a forceful reiteration of the principles enunciated in this government's former communications, one of which was prompted by the German "war zone" decree and another by the torpedoing of the Lusitania.

The administration insists that unarmed ships must be warned of attack and that their crews be transferred to places of safety, if it be the intention of the German submarine command to seize or destroy such unarmed vessels.

President Satisfied.

The German claim that the Lusitania was an armed auxiliary will be referred to only incidentally in the president's reply, if it be mentioned at all. The investigation of this government has satisfied the president that the Lusitania was unarmed and an effort will be made to convince Germany that the United States is more interested in what Germany proposes to do to safeguard American lives on the high seas.

A reply to the second note of this government is not expected for ten days or two weeks.

Although there is outward calm and optimism in administration circles, the fact is not yet overlooked that the so-called war party is in the ascendancy in Berlin and that recent German victories in Galicia have made the Germans a bit more independent and confident. It also is realized that von Tirpitz is directing Germany's naval warfare in his own way and even the kaiser is said to bow to his judgment.

London, June 7.—The Admiralty announced this afternoon that a Zeppelin raided the east coast of England last night, dropping incendiary and explosive bombs. Five persons were killed and forty were injured. Two fires were caused.

The Admiralty also announced that a Zeppelin had been blown to pieces over Belgium by British airmen.

The Admiralty issued this statement: "This morning at 2:30 a. m., an attack was made on the airship shed at Evere, north of Brussels, by Flight Lieutenants J. P. Wilson, S. R. N., and J. S. Mills. R. N. Bombs were dropped and the shed was observed to be in flames.

"It is not known whether a Zeppelin was inside, but the flames reached a great height, coming out from both sides of the shed. Both pilots returned safely.

"At 3 a. m. this morning Flight Sub-Lieutenant R. A. J. Warneford, R. N., attacked a Zeppelin in the air between Tilent and Brussels. At 6,000 feet he dropped six bombs and the airship exploded, fell to the ground and burned for a considerable time.

The force of the explosion caused the Morane monoplane to turn upside down. The pilot succeeded in righting the machine, but had to make a forced landing in the enemy's country. However, he was able to restart his machine and returned safely to the aerodrome."

NEGROES SWORE
THEY WERE IN
STAIR CASE

Nine negroes who were arraigned in by Police Officers Hart and Daugherty on charges of gaming Saturday night, were arraigned before Mayor Joe Baker today. The negroes were arrested when the officers raided a place in Five Points, alleged to have been operated by Bob May.

One by one the negroes took the stand, and most of them swore they were in the stair case, when the lights, mysteriously went out.

Mayor Baker: "Where were you about 11 o'clock Saturday night?"

"In the stair case, sah," would come the reply. One negro swore the stair case was only a foot wide. The stair case, according to the testimony of the defendants, must have been jammed. None of the negroes, according to their testimony, had gambled and had seen none of the rest gambling. The cases were continued until Monday, but additional charges of vagrancy were made against the defendants.

BURGLAR DIES
FROM WOUNDS

Paul McLean, a negro, wanted in Enterprise, Panama City, Fla., and possibly other places, on charges of burglary, died at Headland yesterday afternoon from wounds he received at the hands of Ben Craddock, who found the negro in his house one night last week. Craddock, upon discovering the negro, opened fire, and although McLean succeeded in getting away, his wounds proved fatal.

The night before the shooting the negro was found in the residence of M. W. Roberts, by a lady member of the family, but before assistance could arrive, McLean had made his escape. He is said to have confessed to burglarizing houses in Enterprise.

Convicted Man

Solicitor Dorsey Would Make Representation.

Atlanta, Ga., June 7.—It became known today that Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey has written Governor John M. Slaton asking that he be allowed to appear before the governor to protest against clemency for Leo M. Frank when appeal for clemency reaches the governor for consideration. The governor has granted the solicitor this privilege.

Neither the governor nor the solicitor would talk concerning the letter to the governor, but it is understood from an authoritative source that Dorsey is in possession of a large amount of data and evidence which he intends to submit to the governor, including affidavits of a nature not yet divulged. A large number of petitions opposing Frank's commutation are also in the hands of

STOLEN WATCH
IS RECOVERED

A fifteen jewel Elgin watch, stolen presumably from the room of H. A. Denton, has been recovered by the Sheriff's deputies, and returned to its owner.

The watch was sold by a boy to Walter Korumay for $1.00, and believing that it might have been obtained wrongfully, the watch was turned over to the officers, who had it identified.

ASSAULT WIFE

Police of Alabama City and Atlanta Search for Assailants.

Andalusia, Ala., June 7.—The police of Alabama City and Atlanta are searching for two unknown white men who held up Ed H. McCheslin, robbed him of 25 cents and then assaulted his wife while he stood helpless with a gun at his head and his hands in the air. The men took turns in attacking the woman. Bob Gregory, a white man, was later robbed of 50 cents by the two whites. Three negroes were also held up and robbed.

No arrests have been made.

ANGEL'S ARRESTED.

Dark Anglin, A. C. Anglin, Charlie Anglin, Jake Anglin, and J. Q. Anglin, the elderly one of the party, who live near Richards Springs, were arrested today by deputies from the Sheriff's office, and all locked in the county jail, except J. Q. Anglin, who made bond. The men are held on different charges, such as assault and battery, petit larceny and violating the prohibition laws.

MOTOR WHEEL

Can Be Used on Any "Bike" and Will Take You Anywhere An Auto Can Travel.

E. C. Cumble & Co., believe they have filled a long felt want in the Smith Motor Wheel. And its popularity in Dothan is evidenced by the many already in use in this section.

A. O. Smith Company, sole manufacturers of the Smith Motor Wheel, have been established for many years, and are the largest manufacturers of automobile parts in the world. They make parts for practically every automobile manufacturer in America. One great portion of the mammoth A. O. Smith Company plant is devoted to the manufacture of the Smith Motor Wheel. It has a separate department, operating under its own general management engineering staff.

The Smith Motor Wheel was experimented on for two years before being manufactured for the market. During this time the chief engineers worked at it constantly. They thoroughly tested the Smith Motor Wheel under every running condition. They administered the roughest uses and severest abuses to find each and all deficiencies, until they brought it to the final point of making it perfectly practical, mechanically correct and efficient in every way.

VILLA MAKING OVERTURES TO CARRANZISTAS

Washington, June 7.—Unofficial reports to Washington that Carranza high in the councils of the Villa Zapata faction in Mexico have made formal efforts to sound out the attitude of the Carranza administration toward reconciliation, today led to the hope that a way would be found to restore peace to Mexico without intervention by the United States.

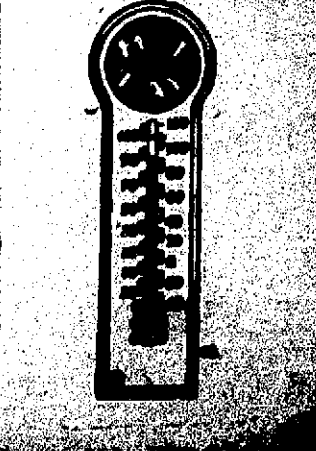

Eliso Arredondo, head of the Carranza agency here, stated today from the border reported a suggestion of peace had come from a Villa agent there, but he would not comment on it in the absence of official proposals. Other members of the Carranza Junta, however, intimated their belief that the move is a sign that Villa is weakening in military strength and is willing to "get together" with Carranza to escape defeat. The Villa followers here laugh at this suggestion and say the chief of the north is as strong as ever. There were reports from Vera Cruz that Obregon had announced he had finally defeated Villa, but no official confirmation was received. The Red Cross plans for relieving the starving people of Mexico practically are complete. An army transport was to leave Galveston today for Vera Cruz with a large cargo of corn and beans.

Reported Fleeing.

El Paso, Tex., June 7.—General Francisco Villa's army which was defeated by General Obregon's constitutionalist forces south of Leon, is reported to be fleeing into the state of Jalisco by way of Pedrita. General Villa's main army was engaged near Leon and Villa himself was at the head of his men.

FALSE U. S. PASSPORTS
ISSUED BY GERMANY?

Washington, June 7.—Ambassador Page has advised the state Department of the circulation in London of reports that Robert Bommel, a German held there as a spy, recently confessed, charging that Captain von Prager, of the German embassy office, had a complete equipment for issuing fraudulent American passports. Department officials said today it was presumed the ambassador was investigating and would report later.

Something About Shrapnel.

Wall Street Journal.

How much copper is used in the manufacture of shrapnel? How much steel? What other metals? What is the cost? These are the questions Wall street is asking.

Expressed in the language of Wall street shrapnel is costing the European countries now at war about $18 each on the firing line. Manufacturers in this country and Canada are getting from $15 to more than $16 for each shell, the additional expense to the foreign countries being cost of transportation and, in certain instances, filling the cartridge case with powder abroad.

From the point of view of engineers, shrapnel, one of the most effective agencies for the destruction of human life yet devised, is an extremely complex mechanism, its complexity being shown by the subcontracting of the order received by the Canadian car and foundry company among 50 concerns in United States and Canada. That company's orders calling for 5,000,000 shrapnel at an approximate cost of $3,000,000, or $16.65 each. Close to 20,000,000 pounds of copper are being used in their manufacture or about four pounds to each shrapnel.

The complete shrapnel is composed of three principle parts: (a) The time fuse; (b) the projectile proper, a hollow steel shell filled with bullets and a bursting charge of black powder; (c) a brass cartridge case is similar to smokeless powder to shoot the projectile from the gun. This brass cartridge case is similar to the shell of an ordinary rifle or revolver cartridge.

The time fuse is a very complicated mechanical device which may be set to burst the steel projectile any number of seconds or feet after it has left the muzzle of the gun. It is as delicately constructed as a watch or a safe lock and is made largely of brass and alloys of aluminum.

The time fuse is screwed into the point of the steel projectile, the projectile is filled with small bullets, usually about 250 in number and is exploded by means of a charge of black powder seated at the opposite end from the time fuse. When it explodes the bullets are hurled over a range of about 250 square yards. The bullets are 85 per cent lead and 12 per cent antimony.

The cartridge case is from a foot to almost two feet long and is made of sheet brass and filled with smokeless powder. It is set off by a percussion cap and will burst the projectile up to 6,000 yards making that distance a safe limit for the twenty sec-

What the Maneuvers

Showed.

Savannah News.

Nation-wide discussion of the recent war game off the North Atlantic coast, comes to indicate a general sentiment in favor of two things with respect to the navy. One of them is such an immediate and large increase in the number of submarines that there will be enough to supply the important ports along the seaboard, so that even maneuvering the battle fleet it still would be unable to effect a landing without first disposing of an attacking flotilla of underwater craft, a feat that might not be accomplished before the battle fleet could come up. The other is a considerable increase in the number of fast, well-armed cruisers.

According to the announcement of the empire of the war game the attacker won because he was well provided with fast, formidable cruisers that formed an effective screen behind which he could move unobserved by the defender and so was able to sweep around into Chesapeake bay while his enemy was wondering if he wasn't off Boston some where. A sufficient force of fast formidable cruisers would have swept aside the screen or at least have broken it so that there would have been far less uncertainty of the main attacking fleet's whereabouts and if there had been a strong flotilla of submarines in Chesapeake bay the attacker's strategy might have gone for nothing.

Secretary Daniels has begun an investigation of the submarine situation. It hasn't been begun too soon. The chief weakness of that arm is that the vessels are far too few. That they would be a dangerous obstacle to a fleet attacking American shores is now denied by nobody in view of what German, Turkish and British submarines have accomplished. Provision was made in the last naval appropriations bill for twenty-six submarines, three of them of the large sea going type with a cruising range sufficient to take them across the ocean. The underwater fighters cost but a small fraction of the cost of a battleship, but their value, as compared with that of the cost of a battleship under certain conditions, has been clearly shown by the activity of German submarines in British waters where a German battleship fleet has not yet dared to go.

It may be, Admiral Fletcher believes, that an effective defense against the submarine will be evolved, but evidently Great Britain and her allies have not yet evolved it. Until it is evolved it is the duty of the United States to provide itself with an ample number of submarines, train men to handle them and keep them in good condition. That the submarine arm of our navy is weak and that too many of its vessels are too easily put out of commission seems apparent to everybody. The nation will feel safer from the possibility of war and from the possibility of an invasion in event of war if our coasts are supplied with up-to-date submarines.

Business conditions is a state of mind, but it will take a Christian Scientist to tell how mind governs matter.

Herodity.

Commercial Appeal.

When it comes to heredity we are much like the little girl who said: "If there are no such things as ghosts, what did they put them in the dictionary for?"

The dictionary says heredity is "the doctrine that the offspring inherits the characteristics of the parent or parents."

Reformers and social workers accept the doctrine as true, and they make their fight for the rising generation along that line. If the father was a thief or a drunkard, the settlement worker studies the child to enable it to clear clear of those rocks; if the mother were a moral derelict, then that side of the daughter's character must be built up and strengthened.

Certainly this is a good starting point for the training of youth. It is an avoidance of obvious rocks on which have been other shipwrecks; a big letter head-line on the front page of general instructions. If the child has known his parents, the lesson of beautiful living is more forcibly driven home by the contrast set up in his new environment. Unconsciously he imitates, the thing before him to a greater or less degree.

Everybody believes in heredity to some extent. If man reproduces himself physically, transmitting his blue or black eyes, his fair skin or Roman nose, is it not quite as probable that he also transmits his mental characteristics and predispositions? Dishonest minds work in the same groove, else it would not be a truism that "it takes a thief to catch a thief."

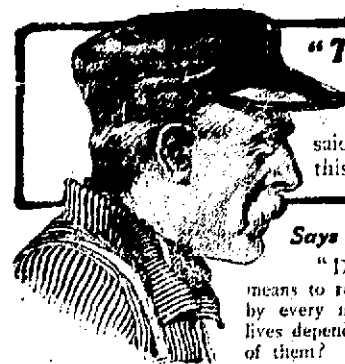

On the other hand, great talents are seldom matters of heredity. The famous musicians and artists have given to the world no great sons in their lines, and there are only a few instances in literature where father and son reached to a like eminence. There was no Shakespeare junior, no younger Milton, no second Tennyson who waked the world with so much as one resonant song. No canvas has ever glowed under the brush of a second-generation Raphael, and no marble black and white has been so beautifully from the chisel of a like Michael Angelo.

If the splendid talents are not matters for heredity, is there any more reason why the great original instincts should be?

Many men of trained intellects have given themselves up to this study of inherited traits and characteristics, and the subject is absorbingly interesting. Certain it is that there is enough truth in the theory to set every man and woman on guard against yielding to any sort of temptation to forget the paths of rectitude.

There is one thing that parents should never put out of mind, and it is this: that it is not to God only they must make answer at the final reckoning; but they must stand before their own children and give answer as to the chances given or withheld that went to the founding of these children's characters. Not Dolly itself will be more accusing than those reproductions of themselves who have gone down in defeat because of parental failure, because of heredity or training.

The man who searches his own heart with the question: "What secret sin-spot is here that, passed onward, may drag my child to perdition," and the woman who looks deep into her nature for a racial trait that will grow, in the next generation into a moral stumbling block—those are the

YOUNG ELBERT
TAKES HUBBARD'S

the other side to make a secret.

Meanwhile the new Elbert Hubbard has taken his place very quickly. As is want in the shops of East America and a letter has received from him says: "We can't get a letter from a man right along with our business. Both of the magazines will be published and every other department of the institution will be continued. Our whole attention is one strength and com-
—and there is no such thing
—there from here."

The new pastor of the flock very fond of himself. Elbert L. and H. is the first oldest
—by his first marriage.

He was born about thirty years ago and is a strong as he
—with the story, might be you may know?

He writes a hand so much like his father's that no one knows where the autographs of one and the other of the other legit is whether or not he has any measure of the writing ability
it propelled the pen of Hub-ard here is not known.

Take the law of averages as to the set aside in this instance, he is not?

Abraham Lincoln wrote and signed the Gettysburg address and the second inaugural, and his son now signs passes good on
Mr. Pullman's sleeping car?

But it will be nothing against Elbert H. if he cannot write.
And it's a great deal in his favor
that he has done the work well
all these years, and left his head
for around the Roycroft shops
—always has been the most work-est and unassuming member of the community.

Just who will furnish the fuel
for the Philistine and the Tramazine's now that their creator and brilliant sponsor is gone
—none knows. There are those who think it would have been better to discontinue those long themed shadows of a remarkable personality but evidently the powers that are not convinced of the wisdom of such a course.

Time will tell whether or not their judgment is wise.

Men and women
everywhere continue to lament Hubbard's loss as on the high banks of Germany's savagery.

And his words go marching on?

An observer in the Agriculture Pal-cannot help noticing in the display of agricultural power machinery the almost complete supremacy of the new design of power tractor known as the caterpillar, over the cumbersome unstable, high wheeled engine of a few years ago. There are few of the old models on exhibition, while the caterpillar principle has been applied to almost every type of engine for agricultural purposes.

The caterpillar proper is a heavy sheet metal chain, varying in width from ten inches to two feet according to the weight of the engine, which passes around two heavy sprocket wheels like a belt. These wheels revolving, pass the chain about them
the lower part moving backward with the weight of the engine resting on the broad surface of the chain between the two sprockets.

An engine of this type can be operated on ground soft enough to mire
an ordinary farm wagon.

Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition San Francisco. The gun cost its illustrious owner $100
and its beautiful design, graceful lines and wonderful inlay work would justify the expenditure to any lover of fine pieces. The stock is finely carved, the barrels and lock are hand engraved, and the lock is inlaid with a hunting scene in gold.
The barrels are of the finest knurled steel. Before starting on the trip the ex-president wrote to the maker: "I really think it is the most beautiful gun I have ever seen. I am almost saddened to take it to Africa and subject it to the rough treatment it will receive."

The left barrel is choked and the right open. It is corded to shoot either buckshot or a single ball.

In a group in this Palace are displayed by four of the world's greatest manufacturers of sporting arms, which form an exhibit which attracts hundreds of sportsmen. Each display is in charge of a firearms expert.

Pearl Culture a New Industry.

Among the interesting exhibits of the Japanese in the Manufacturers
Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is a demonstration of the methods and results of pearl cultivation in the far East. The display of this cultivated product showing hundreds of pearls which until recently were placed on a commercial basis a few years ago would delight any lover of beautiful gems and the methods of production will prove interesting to any observer. Though pearl culture has become a thriving industry in Japan at tempts to reproduce it in other parts of the world have yielded but meager results.

The successful method of propagation was evolved by the Japanese entist Kokichi Mikimoto who discovered a species of oyster which produced the pearl on the surface of the shell. Though the finding of the oysters and inserting the nuclei then waiting for the pearl to grow to a commercial size is a very slow process the fact that it has not reduced the price of the gems even to that of the most expensive imitations shows that it is not with many difculties.

Daniel Webster's Plow at the Panama
Pacific International Exposition.

One of the most valuable exhibits commercially in the Agricultural Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition San Francisco is an ancient plow displayed in the Massachusetts exhibit, and forming a striking contrast to the highly complex modern machinery displayed on the acreage of floor about it.

The plow owes its distinction to the circumstance that a hundred years ago Daniel Webster a youthful boy purchased it along the furrows of his father's farm near Marshfield, Mass.
It was drawn by a yoke of oxen and if the future peer of American orators and statesmen could turn swarthy and a day he had to work from daylight to dark.

The first exposure of the plow is in the fifth gallery of the

Radium Used to Promote Plant Growth.

Some of the remarkable properties of radium are being demonstrated by an exhibitor in the Liberal Arts building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition San Francisco in connection with a new invention making possible the radiolizing of water for medicinal purposes.

Demonstrating the power of this mineral promoting metabolism a number of young plants, some existing with and some without the aid of radium are shown. Those in the radioactive soils are seen to be growing much more rapidly than those in common soil, and to have a more healthy appearance.

This inventor has found a process of impregnating terra cotta bricks with radium bearing minerals, and these small bricks placed in water are said to give it remarkable curative properties. The porous bricks last almost indefinitely losing only half their potency. It is estimated in 1800 years.
Since the discovery of this mineral it has been found that many celebrated waters as Carlsbad and Baden Baden owe their health giving properties to radium. The inventor claims that his process produces in ordinary waters
the qualities of these famous springs.

The radium ore used in the manufacture of radioactive terra cotta
is known as carnotite a formation found mainly in Colorado and Utah and now producing three-fourths of the world's radium. The Lurupum mineral, known as pitchblende, from which the famous European springs are impregnated is also displayed.

Most Rapid Photographs Ever Taken.

The most remarkable set of speed photographs ever taken are a part of the war department's exhibit in Machinery Hall at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco.
They are pictures of a shell from a 12 inch coast defense gun in flight, the set including the various phases of the flight beginning just as the great projectile pokes its nose out of the muzzle of the gun.

The pictures were taken with a lens having an exposure period of one five thousandth of a second, this being the fastest shutter ever manufactured. The exposure at the proper time in the flight of the projectile was made by breaking an electric circuit in a wire stretched across the trajectory at the desired point and connecting with the shutter.

One picture shows the shell half way out of the muzzle before any smoke and gas has escaped. Another was taken when the shell was two feet from the muzzle but hidden by a heavy ring of smoke. A third shows the shell in flight a hundred feet from the muzzle. The photographs are so perfect and the exposure so rapid that scarcely any blur is perceptible. They were taken at Fort Monro Va. under the direction of Capt. F. J.
Buhl of the coast artillery corps and head of the department of collected specialists at the Coast Artillery
school at Fort Monro.

NEVER KNOWN TO FAIL

The melody days are here,
We feel with trepidation,
When round us fallen leaves do lie
And follow about a nation.

CAME TO CITY FOR MEAL

A big bird was shot, asserted to be a bald-headed American eagle of an extraordinary large dark hawk, escaped down over lower Manhattan
the other day, perched a fat person in the air near the post office, and then carried his quarry to the president that just out of Broadway
in a corner of the street, a cent
story of the Woolworth building.
Here, within a few feet of the rear and corner of the street, the bird had settled down contentedly for a couple of hours while he made a careful meal. Occupants of the office buildings are the first to see the unusual visitor and many glasses were raised upon him from dozens of windows. Photographers climbed around the corner of the ledge in order to get a front view of him and the big bird flew away.

DOPE

The true base ball fan never likes a one-sided contest. Because the Dothan team has dropped a few games recently is no reason that the team is weakening, and should not be construed to mean that Dothan is not going to be right there in the race for the first rag. With Brunswick in the lead, Dothan second and Waycross third, the contest is bound to be a lively affair. And the nearer these three teams keep to each other in the percentage the more interest there will be in the deciding games. Of course we would like to see Dothan just a little ahead, just a safe lead. The "hum" team has a good fighting chance to get in the lead, too. If we can just about break even on the road this week, and come back to town for six games next week, everything ought to be to the good. And right now is the time that the ball team needs encouragement.

To the delight of his many friends, Fred Spitzangle is back in the game, and yesterday got away with a nice single, besides handling perfectly the two balls that came his way. He has had a good rest, and here's hoping that his "Charley horse" has left him. He ought to go good the next few weeks, and we believe he will.

Paschal is developing into a very consistent hitter, and his work amounts to a great deal when it comes to winning games. The pitcher, and if he sees a ball to Chambers; struck out by Poole coming to the plate and if he sees a ball to Chambers; off Poole 1, off strike he smashes at it, regard Valden 1; sacrifice hit, Heck; less of where said pillet may be stolen bases, Paschal, Burke; exactly where he wants it. In wild pitch, Poole; hit by pitcher, other words, if he can't get it by Valden (Alford). Time of right for a home run, he is con game, 1:30. Umpire, Wagnon.

CROPS TO FOLLOW OATS

Cowpeas, Soy Beans and Other Legumes Preferred.

By J. F. Dugger, Director, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

As a rule, soil improvement crops are most advisable. Among these, first place is usually given to cowpeas. Late or Mammoth soy beans may also be drilled in promptly after oats, and cultivated for seed or hay.

Spanish peanuts may still be planted. But with both soy beans and peanuts there is greater danger of getting a stand after oats than on less open land.

Only if the land is very rich should corn follow oats, and then usually with peas in every other row, or in the middle.

There is still time for sweet potatoes, but on oat stubble the stand is often poor.

Sorghum may be planted, then corn or sweet potatoes, but it impoverishes the soil.

BEST VARIETIES OF COWPEAS

Some of the Best Varieties for Seed and Hay and for Disease Resistance.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Speckled Peas—The most widely known variety of cowpeas is probably speckled pea, called by some Whip-poorwill or "Shiny." It has some vines and usually produces a good crop of seed. The pods do not burst open as soon as they are ripe and drop the peas on the ground. Harvesting may be delayed some time after the pods ripen.

If this variety is planted for hay it should be sown at the rate of one and a quarter bushels to two bushels per acre. The crowding of the plants forces the vines to grow more nearly upright, makes the mowing easier and increases the yield of hay.

CLEANS THEM OUT.

"Alcohol," it is said, "will remove stains from summer clothes." That is true, but it also removes the summer clothes, the spring, the autumn and the winter clothes, not only from the one who drinks it, but from the wife and family as well. It removes the household furniture, the eatables from the pantry, the smiles from the face of the wife, the laugh from the innocent lips of his children and the happiness out of his home. As a remover of things alcohol has no equal.

COFFEY, BY VICTORY OVER JIM FLYNN WINS RIGHT TO CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT WITH WILIARD

New York, June 8.—Now that Jim Coffey, the Irish heavyweight has definitely settled the question of his supremacy over Jim Flynn fans are looking forward to the match Willard soon must give him to decide the championship.

Coffey pounded Flynn into submission in nine rounds at new Brighton Beach, A. C. at the Brighton Beach race track. Flynn was so badly beaten that his seconds threw the sponge into the ring to save him from needless punishment. Coffey's superior ring generalship and superior knowledge of boxing gave him notable advantage over the slug-ging foe.

Coffey's admirers are already demanding a match with Willard on or before Labor Day.

BREWERIES REPLACED.

From Spokane, Wash., comes word that the Dollar Brewery building, located on the fort grounds, is being torn down to make way for a paper mill. The North Yakima brewery is to be connected with a fruit preserving and fruit canning factory, and will also make grape juice, vinegar and other fruit extracts. The manager of this brewery is not only reconciled to but is enthusiastic over the change. Thousands of tons of fruit go to waste every year in Washington and Oregon, and he says, a great industry can be built up in the packing and canning business which will bring great prices to those states.

TEMPERANCE
NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

SALOON THE PAUPER-MAKER.

One out of every ten people a pauper! This statement is made concerning Cook county, Illinois, of which county the city of Chicago constitutes the chief part, and is given in the annual report of the president of the board of county commissioners. During last year the number helped was 250,000, the chief cause of need in 9,000 of these cases being reported as unemployment. The close connection between the 7,000 saloons of Chicago and the burden of pauperism is easily seen. Any business man accustomed to employ labor could make a tolerably accurate conjecture that fully two-thirds of the men who cannot in ordinary times secure employment are unreliable and undesirable as workmen because of their indulgence in liquor.

And the men and women who each year dig deep into their pockets for the taxes necessary to care for these 250,000 paupers and other dependent citizens, are in a majority of cases the same men and women who license the institution that produces them!

MENACE TO THE BOY.

(From the speech of Congressman Garfield of Texas, in behalf of the Hobson resolution.)

"I am not afraid of the blind tiger for my boy or myself, but of the tiger that can see—the tiger that stands on every prominent corner with bright lights that blink at me. Young men do not begin the drink habit in the blind tigers. They learn to drink at mahogany tables in the high class beer gardens and restaurants, where they serve nice little drinks with fruit sticking around them. When you took our slaves away from us we suffered, but we thank you for it today. We thought we had a right to decide that question for ourselves, but you said we could not. Now when we want to destroy the saloon curse, you will yell 'states rights' at us."

JUNIORS DRY UP THE TOWN.

In Georgetown, O., a few weeks before election, young men of from fifteen to twenty years of age organized a Junior Business Men's club and announced themselves as a "bunch of winners." They made a thorough canvass of the town and solicited every voter, saying to the drinking classes, "You wanted saloons in your day; you've had them; we boys don't want them in our midst; won't you help give us what we want?" The result was that Georgetown went "dry" three to one. This campaign has attracted much attention in the state and the "wets" feel they have nothing to hope from the new generation about to step into the electorate.

An exhaustive investigation into 2,000,000 lives insured during the last 24 years was recently completed by the life insurance companies. Arthur Hunter, a New York actuary, reporting some of these findings to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents in New York city, said they showed that "the loss of 500,000 men in the present war could be made good in less than ten years through complete abstinence from alcoholic beverages by the inhabitants of Russia."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

The following figures are given by a writer in economics: In 365 days there are (24 hours to the day) 8,760 hours. The church is open on an average of 600 hours a year, the schools about 1,500 hours, the average factory about 2,400 hours, and the average business concern about 2,800 hours, while the saloons and other like resorts are open about 4,725 hours.

SAME OLD PROBLEM.

The problem that faces us today is the problem all ages have wrestled with, and the pen of history has yet to record its perfect solution, that of causing the individual to accept in his life the ideas and the ideals that mark the trail of an advanced civilization.—Mrs. Amy C. Beech, National W. C. T. U. organizer.

The tremendous scope of the Austro-German victory in Galicia, which in a single month has wrested from Russia practically all the spoils of the eight months' campaign which cost her hundreds of thousands of lives, is indicated by the above map. The Russian position when the Teutonic drive started, early in May, is shown by the line A-A. The present position, insecurely held by the beaten and disorganized Russian armies, is along the line B-B.

The winning of Galicia and the Carpathian passes from the Austrians had been the one great success of the Allies in the war. The battle of the Carpathians alone is estimated to have cost Russia 500,000 lives. In Russia's hands they were a vital danger to Austria, opening the way for an invasion which should devastate Hungary. The siege and capture of Przemyśl itself which was only one feature of this great campaign, had occupied an army of over 300,000 for half a year.

The Teutonic campaign for the recovery of the ground began just a month ago. Striking with terrific force at the Russian line just north of the Carpathians, General Mackensen drove it swiftly backward—so swiftly that large parts of the Russian forces which held the line south of the mountains were cut off when the Austrians seized the passes from the north. With the passes cleared of Russians, fresh Austrian armies passed through the passes and drove the Russians north and east on Przemyśl.

THE GRADUATE GIRL.

Girl of my dreams, with the flower sweet face,
Girl of my heart, with the gold brown hair,
Gowned in the bluest fabric and lace,
Laden with blossoms, she's waiting there
Merry and eager to enter life's race.
Surely today there is none so fair,
Radiant and lovely, all willowy grace;
And watching, I breathe a prayer—

God give her courage to dare and do,
God keep my little girl strong and true.

Winged the years since that yesterday
Rose leafy, helpless, she clung to my hand,
Fairies bestowed her—and flitted away—
A wonderful gift from a wonderful land,
A thread of gold through a life all gray,
A jewel set in a gemless band,
Light of my life, little comrade gay,
Some day you will understand.

Farewell Party for Mr. Hannah—

A lovely courtesy extended to Mr. Clark Hannah, who leaves Wednesday for his home in Freeport, Ill., was the rook party at which Mr. Tyn Cobb entertained on Monday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cobb on West Main street.

A delightful punch was served on the porch, as the guests arrived, by Miss Hope Cobb and Miss Frances Baker and later in the evening, cream, cake and mints were served by the same charming young ladies.

Mr. Hannah has made many friends here during his stay with Mr. and Mrs. Cobb, who wish for him a very happy summer with his home folks.

Mr. Cobb's guests included Miss Grace Faircloth, Miss Gladys Whitley, Miss Betty Chapman, of Troy, Miss Thelma Parker, Miss Willie Mae Whaley, Miss Eva Glenn, and Miss Marie Spann, Messrs. Clark Hannah, Royce Crawford, aribon, John Banks Harris, Chas. Blum, Norman Spann and John Phillip Sheally.

Miss Sadie Bradford Entertained in Honor of Tenth Birthday—

A most enjoyable party of Monday afternoon was the birthday party at which little Miss Sadie Bradford entertained fifty-four of her friends.

A color scheme of green and white was beautifully carried out in the decorations of the porch and dining room.

Refreshing punch was served during the afternoon, and at dusk an ice course was served by Misses Jewel Harris, Ethel and Marie Allen and Lucia Porter.

Miss Martha Hall was given the prize, a box of candy, for pinning the tail on the donkey.

The happy little guests included Christine Hughes, Vonell Metcalf, William and Dorothy Porter, Anna Lee Cherry, Whit and Kate Helen Harris, S. B. Godwin, Ralph Vaughn, Helen Daniel, Louise May Adkins, Ruth Lewis, Marguerite Deal of looka, Mabel McKinnon of Troy, Marguerite Baker of Pensacola, Frances, Clark, of Florida, Evelyn Laurie, Joe Blackshear, Helen and Logan, Bassett McGuire, Milton Joseph Avery, Louise Battle, Lucile Martin, Frances Baker, Alene Bush, Christine Harris, Martha and Mary Ethel Hall, Grace Harris, Helen Logan, George Pilcher, Leoy Wood Baughman, Susie Green, Elizabeth and Margaret Farmer, Mary Dempsey, Mary and Louise Green, Amelia McGuire, Cornelia Snell, Sam Behrman, Johnnie Butts and Willie Sanders.

Malone Circle—

The meeting of the Malone Circle of the Foster Street Methodist church on Monday afternoon was a most interesting one. The leader for the afternoon was Miss Alice Watford and the subject "The Making of a Girl."

Interesting talks and papers on "The Life of the Working Girl" were given by Mrs. R. H. Wells, Mrs. J. S. Lisenby, Mrs. Eva Pearle Granberry and Mrs. Edward Cannady. Vocal solos by Miss Iddine Brown and Mrs. Eric Cellerstedt were enjoyed.

After the meeting adjourned delightful sandwiches and iced tea were served by Mrs. Ralph Ghent and Miss Louise Clendinen, who were the hostesses for the afternoon.

Mr. Royce Crawford, of Panama City, Fla., is the guest of Clark Hannah and Tyn Cobb.

Mrs. J. B. Strong, of Preston, Cuba, is the guest of Mrs. Will Whitley.

Mrs. R. A. Baker and Margaret and Robert Baker of Pensacola, Fla., are visiting Mrs. Lillie Bradford.

Dothan Eagle

Gentlemen:

The double page circulars were delivered to me just six hours after giving the order. The printing and make up is the best I have ever been able to get anywhere in such a short space of time in all the years I have been conducting sales, and I wish to thank you for your co-operation.

Very truly yours

Boll Weevil Control In Early Summer

Reports from the U. S. Census Bureau, show that in the Alabama counties of Baldwin, Choctaw, Clarke, Escambia, Mobile, Sumter, and Washington, the total cotton yields were for 1911 82,735 bales; for 1912, 60,036 bales and for 1913, 41,307 bales. This territory was first generally infested in 1911 and the crop was first to feel the effect of the boll weevil. Such reductions in yield will occur in other sections as the weevil becomes fully established.

There is need for the wisest possible dissemination of the most practical suggestions for reducing weevil damage during the early part of the cotton growing season. In this publication we therefore omit all consideration of suggestions that are applicable up to the time of planting the crop or after it has matured.

Weevils begin to emerge from winter quarters usually during the latter part of March, and while practically all will be out by the first week of June, a very few may not come out before the first of July. There is a strong tendency for weevils to concentrate upon the earliest cotton where one field has a head of two or three weeks over those around it. Weevils feed upon the tender foliage in the tip of the bud until after squares begin to form. In extreme cases they may be found upon young cotton, working in the bud to the number of several thousand weevils per acre, even before reproduction begins, which is at the time the first squares become about half grown, or by a rough rule at the time the first bloom may be noticed.

Where present in noticeable numbers on the young cotton it will pay to go over the fields carefully once or twice and collect these overwintered weevils from the buds, and this can be done most economically and effectively just before the squares start to form. If done earlier than this other weevils will emerge from winter quarters later. If done at this time with the utmost care the maximum number of weevils may be gathered before any egg have been deposited. Watch for wilted, or black leaves, in the heart of the tip, and where such occur search that plant and all others surrounding it within a radius of ten or twelve feet until the weevil is found. The weevils may be killed by crushing, when caught, or by putting them in a bottle containing a little water with a film of kerosene oil on top. The cow pea pod weevil, an occasionally other species, may also be found on cotton earlier in the season and may be similarly disposed of at this time, but these species leave the cotton later and do not breed upon it as does the boll weevil. The collection of weevils before squaring will be pay where, on thorough search, less than fifty weevils can be found per acre. In the search for weevils one hand should be held horizontally under the tip which is bent over slightly so that the weevil if present may fall into the hand instead of on the ground as it is their natural tendency to drop and "play possum" when the plant is disturbed. Unless this is done, many weevils will escape by dropping so quickly that they are never seen by the collector.

As a second step that should be practiced under certain conditions you may mention the collection of the weevil-infested squares. The boll weevil female does not develop eggs until she has fed for a few days upon the squares. After the eggs are deposited in the squares they require three or four days to hatch, and then about five or six days for the grub to become half grown in the first generation. By the time the grub is half grown the injury it has done the square becomes so great as to cause the squares to turn yellow and in two or three days more it falls to the ground.

As a rule, weevil-infested squares remain on the plants for about seven to ten days after the egg is deposited so that the first half of the development of the weevil takes place on the plant and the second half after the weevil has fallen to the ground. Some squares are never shed completely but dry up on the plant and may there give emergence to the weevil.

Where square picking is attempted, the following points should be carefully borne in mind: First, the collections should be begun in about TEN DAYS AFTER THE FIRST BLOOM is seen in the field. Second, the work must be thoroughly done if it is to be profitable and this means that squares must be picked not only from the ground but also all that have dried on the plants and all those that show by unnatural, pale or yellow color or by flaring or spreading of the "shuck" around the bud that they are injured although they have not fallen. Third, to be effective in preventing the emergence of all weevils the collections must be made frequently enough so that those squares which may hang longest on the plants but will fall soon after one collection may not have time to give emergence to weevils before the next collection is made. This means that COLLECTIONS where practiced should be made EVERY FIFTH DAY. Fourth, the collection of squares should be continued for AT LEAST SIX WEEKS. After this time the crop will have been made to such an extent that it is doubtful if further square picking would appreciably affect it. Fifth, square collection is advisable during the first few weeks of the squaring period, especially where weevils have lived through the winter in large numbers, and particularly wherever the surface soil is continually moist (and therefore comparatively cool) also when the maximum temperature as ordinarily measured by the thermometer in the shade does not frequently exceed 85 degrees F. Possibly the fundamental reasons for these latter statements should be given. Where the surface soil is moist its temperature even in the sun is kept low by evaporation. The burial of squares in such soil will not destroy weevils or prevent their emergence from squares. In order to gain the benefit of weevil control by heat, a must have a temperature that will reach above 115 degrees F. This temperature may occur with very fine dry surface soil exposed to the sunshine when the air temperature in the shade reaches 90 degrees F. or higher. Under the latter condition every effort should be given toward securing very frequent and shallow cultivation disregarding the collection of squares as so large a part of the weevil stages in the squares would be destroyed by heat if exposed to the sunshine. As an aid in drawing these squares to the middle, fasten a short section of regular log chain to the draw or cultivator so that the ends will pass close to the rows and the sag in the chain close behind the implement will drag many of the squares from the shade of the plants into the sunshine. Sixth, never forget that under boll weevil conditions much depends upon cultivation. The more frequently this can be made the better. The prime object is to facilitate the growth and fruiting of the plants which must be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Cultivation should be continued until cotton begins to open or as long as the cultivator can be gotten through the field.

With good courage, ordinary common sense and hard work it is possible to raise cotton profitably in spite of the boll weevil under practically all conditions. We can certainly do it in Alabama. DO IT NOW.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Use it like a cold cream and dry Eczema eruptions right up.

The moment you apply hold sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist. This remarkable sulphur made into a thick cream effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years hold sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties and nothing has ever been found to take its place in relieving irritable and inflammatory affections of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance, it immediately subdues the itching irritation and heals the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again manifests itself.

Any good druggist will supply an ounce of hold sulphur, which should be applied to the affected parts like the ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with torturous itching.

Child Found In Church Called The "War Baby"

THE PICTURE SHOWS NEW YORK'S FIRST "WAR BABY"

New York, June 7.—At Bellevue they call him the war baby—America's first war baby—and are speculating about the fate of his father who, they think, may have gone to the defense of the Tricolor when the Germans were menacing Paris.

The only reason they call him the war baby is because he was found in one of the pews of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul in West Twenty-third street, which is in the heart of New York's French colony. Besides he has the soft olive skin, the big brown eyes and black hair of the Latin.

But yesterday one of the priests from the Carmelite church baptized the baby. They gave him the name of Thomas Knott—not because the name fits or really belongs to the war baby, but because it was the next name on the Bellevue babies list of names.

The police of the West Twentieth Street Station, who turned boy named Paul Pau, but the him over to Bellevue, wanted the list was made up before the war.

EVERY OPENS REPAIR SHOP IN DOTHAN

W. W. Avery, who has for many years been connected with the Strickland Jewelry Company, has severed his connection with that company and has opened a first class repair shop on West Main street. He will repair clocks, watches, jewelry, etc. Mr. Avery is well known in Dothan, where he has lived many years, and is a skilled workman. He will no doubt do a good business in his new quarters.

FATHERS' DAY.

June is the month not only of roses and weddings, but it is the month that celebrates a far less frequently sung fete. Fathers' Day comes this month on June 22nd. The rose, any kind or color, is the emblem of Fathers' Day, and all who wear one on June 22nd will be known to be paying tribute to Father, living or dead. Father himself was not the inventor of this celebration. It was a woman who devotedly admired her father and her husband who made the suggestion. Happy and admiring daughters and wives all over the country have taken it up. There is a slow but sure gathering feeling among women that in spite of the heavy artillery used against men in the fight for suffrage, after all, Father is a pretty fine old Father, and that we will tell him so once a year, no matter how we ignore and maltreat him the remaining three hundred and sixty-four days.—Exchange.

WHEN YOU WASH YOUR HAIR DON'T USE SOAP

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain molified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
